1. Students of the Faculty of Engineering at Near East University should take part in an industrial summer practice, duration of which varies with the department concerned, in addition to the accomplishing the required courses and laboratory studies so that they can be awarded the B.Sc. degree.

2. The year of practice, its duration, subjects to be covered, time to be spent on each subject related with the requirements of the type of industry selected for the summer practices are specified by each department concerned.

3. Each department has a "Summer Practice Advisory Committee", including at least one member of the teaching staff. This committee administers the department’s summer practice affairs reporting to the department chair. Members of the committee are selected by the department chair.

4. The Faculty of Engineering has a "Faculty Summer Practice Board" that meets when necessary. This board is composed of an advisor from each department that has got such a committee. They meet under the chairmanship of the Dean or one of his assistants and ensure that the summer practice procedures are performed according to the rules common to all the departments of the faculty.

5. If the students themselves can find a working place acceptable by their department, the responsibility of fulfilling their summer work in a satisfactory manner belongs to themselves as well. On the other hand, the summer practice vacancies available to the department are distributed to the prospective students by the advisor of the Summer Practice Advisory Committee giving priorities in order of graduation status, academic achievement, and the use of the previous summer practice assignments, or by drawing lots.

6. Students who find their own working places must submit satisfactory information their working place to the departmental committee and should obtain an approval before starting their summer practice. Responsibility rests with the students for places, which has been approved of the departmental committee.

7. Each student about to start work should obtain a "Summer Practice Guide". In this guide general information on summer work and necessary forms are given. The student reports daily all the work he/she has performed according to the department summer practice program during the summer practice period, and later passes all these records into the notebook in accordance with the "Principles of Summer Practice Report". The student submits the report to the departmental committee during the registration period of the semester following summer practice. When it is necessitates, this date may be delayed for some time by the committee. Those students who do not submit their summer practice reports at the end of the assigned period are considered not to have done their summer practice. In addition to this report, the departments may ask for documents covering additional information on the work accomplished. Students who satisfactorily complete their practice, receives their reports back.
8. The student, who has not written his /her report to the acceptable standards given by the "Principles of Summer Practice Report", is asked to improve his /her report within two weeks’ time, if he /she has fulfilled his/her summer practice successfully. Those students who do not hand in the required report within his /her period or those whose report are rejected are required to repeat this summer practice.

9. Every student is required to deliver the summer practice forms, marked "confidential" in the booklet, to the employer at the start of the summer practice. At the end of the practice, one of these forms is sent directly to the department summer practice advisory committee by registered post. The responsibility of ensuring this belongs to the student. The other copy is retained in the employer's files.

10. The student who gets an “F” average on his /her performance report, or who has got an "F" for his /her attendance status, is required to repeat this summer practice.

11. The record of each student who has completed his /her work satisfactory is sent to the Registrar's Office by the department where it is entered into University Record.